

Invitation to exhibit

If you want to promote your company's products, services and brand name to prospective and existing clients in the water, waste, energy, air pollution and land remediation sectors the EcoForum exhibition in April next year will be a most effective marketing tool for you.

Since its inception in 2007 this event has become Australia's leading ecoforum because it:

- brings the environment management industry together with clients in a range of industry sectors
- focuses on the 'hot topics' that have an immediate need to be dealt with
- presents innovative water, waste, energy, air pollution and land remediation solutions
- is efficiently and effectively well organised by people with 20 years of experience.
